SIR,

I have the honour to inform you that a large surplus stock of obsolete and out of date books not sold up to date has accumulated in the Central Book Depot, the total value of which was Rs 6913-15-6 at the end of February 1903 There has not been a clearance sale of useless stock in the Book Depot since 1891 It is necessary to get rid of the unsaleable stock by auction for the last four years as many books as could be sold at reduced rates have been sold. As there is little or no prospect of selling the books even at reduced rates hereafter, I request that Government may sanction the sale by auction of the surplus stock which is an useless encumbrance in the Book Depôt. A list of books of the surplus stock is herewith enclosed.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

H J Bhabha
Inspector General.
